DEMOLITION PERMIT INFORMATION

This brochure provides basic information required to obtain a Demolition Permit.

1. How do I apply for a permit?

Provide the required information on the forms you receive from the Building Department.

2. What information do I provide?

Building Permit Application – A complete and legible application is required. The more information you provide at the start, the fewer delays there will be in processing your application.

Plot Plan – In most cases you will only need to complete the upper grid of this form. Draw a map so that the Building Inspector can find your project location. In some cases the lower grid will need to be completed, so we can see which building on your property is being taken down.

3. Will I need other permits, too?

No, but depending on your project, you may need approval from other agencies, ie: Planning Department, Health Department, Road Department, Department of Ecology, Environmental Protection Agency, etc.

NOTE: Depending on the extent of the project, a performance bond may be required.

4. How long will it take to receive my demolition permit?

Demolition permits can usually be issued within seven days, as long as the fees have been paid and all other departments have responded without any special approvals required.

5. How much will the permit cost?

There is a very nominal fee for a Demolition Permit. Ask the Building Department for the current fees.

6. What inspections should I expect?

There will generally be only one inspection for a Demolition project. The inspection should be performed when the project is completed.

The finished site should conform to Klickitat County Code; a copy can be obtained from the Building Department.

7. How long is the permit good?

A demolition permit is good for 60 days from the date of issuance.
